PROLOGUE

Scholarship, Fellowship, and Sportsmanship—three great divisions of a world in miniature, the world of Brookline High School. Here we learn by making the effort, we gain social experience by mixing freely with everyone, and we acquire physical skill by voluntary use of athletic opportunities offered us. During our four years in Brookline High School we try to combine successfully the three lasting ideals of Scholarship, Fellowship, and Sportsmanship so that we may share with others in harmony the opportunities awaiting us.

DEDICATION

MR. EDGAR BRUCE

To you, Mr. Edgar Bruce, we, the students of Brookline High School, are pleased to dedicate the Murivian 1962. You have contributed unselfishly both your time and talents to all three phases of Brookline High School life: Scholarship, Fellowship, Sportsmanship. As a truly fine mathematics instructor, you transform the basic facts of geometry into the workable and even enjoyable manipulation of numbers and shapes; as adviser to the Murivian Business Staff, you have estalished the concept of friendly, yet purposeful cooperation; as adviser to the golf team, you provide, by a sincere interest in golf and a warm understanding of the boys, the inspiration and drive so necessary to a successful team.

More than fine instruction and guidance, however, you impart to those of us fortunate enough to have come in contact with you the ideal of self-reliance. Whether in the classroom, on the Murivian Business Staff, or at the golf course, we have learned from you the true meaning of independence, of learning to think and act for ourselves.

For your instruction, your guidance, and your interest in us as individuals, we, the students of Brookline High School, offer our deepest and most sincere thank you.

Let us liken the all-inclusive circle, which encloses our crest, to the Student Body of Brookline High School, for both circle and Student Body embrace all three phases of life at BHS: Scholarship, Fellowship, Sportsmanship. The Freshman's relatively slight contribution serves as his introduction to a new, more adult existence. The Sophomore's participation in more than one phase of BHS life leads to his choosing, as a Junior, that phase in which he may utilize his talents most effectively. The Senior, through his earnest and diligent efforts, bestows honor not only on his name, but also on the name of his school. Just as geometry states that the whole is equal to the sum of its parts, so is Brookline High School equal to the sum of its Student Body's labors. As the circle which encloses the crest determines the extent of its three divisions, so is the direction of the three phases of life at Brookline High School enfolded in the Student Body

ROBERTS HOUSE

To Roberts House, Class of 1962,

Those of us who have worked with Roberts House for the past four years know that your group has had individual personality. Your class has been characterized by a sense of responsibility and a pleasant attitude toward each other, toward other classes, and toward members of the faculty.

Your presence at Brookline High School has contributed to the scholastic standing of the school, brought fame on the athletic fields, carried on student government activities in the finest democratic traditions, and added to the quality of musical and dramatic productions. As individuals and as a class you deserve congratulations for all that you have accomplished.

In your work and in your willingness to work for the good of all, you have shown that you have learned many of the secrets of successful living.

May your accomplishments and satisfactions in future years equal and exceed those of your successful years here.

John H. Wall

Let us bow our heads and reverently repeat the Communist Manifesto.

I'm so very happy out here, Dr. Holland. Must I really come back in?

Would you repeat that, please? I don't hear so well without my glasses.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Foxy Fudgie fondly fondles his fourteenth fudgesicle.

This may not be the great American novel, but there's always the chance it may be the great American sentence.

Qvick—hide the microfilm . . . ve're being vatched!

I well realize the time, effort, and expense spent in developing your product, Miss Katz, but, I assure you, it will never replace milk.

This is the side that used Crest.

Will the real thinker please stand up?

Believe me, child, you cannot go to Harvard.

This was before we began to eat Husky Muskies for breakfast.

Ah, you're a little devil, you are, sneaking up on me like that.

Naw, he's not asleep. He just doesn't want to go to his post.

I'll give you a handicap, Stanley—I'll play without the ball.

LINCOLN HOUSE

Carmen P. Rinaldi
Housemaster

Katherine L. Bruce
Assistant Housemaster

Greetings to all the Lincoln House Members:

The junior year is the most challenging of the four years of a house. For the first time long-range plans have come clearly into focus, and the future really is upon us! PSAT's are out of the way; SAT's, National Merits, Achievement tests are here; and "Junior Prom" time has come and gone! College choices, job prospects, senior "electives," and teacher evaluations have become fact.

Miss Bruce and I are caught up in the excitement and share with you your hopes, aspirations, and, yes, your frustrations. We wish you well; we pray for clear vision and the physical and mental strength to help you reach your individual goals!

AKERS HOUSE

Mr. Bartlett
Housemaster

Mrs. Woodberry
Assistant Housemaster

The time has again come to say a few words to the more than six hundred members of Akers House, class of 1964. Mrs. Woodberry and I take pride in your accomplishments to date. These are apparent in your scholastic progress, your willingness to take responsibility, and most of all in your increasing capacity to live cooperatively in our school community.

You are provided with many wonderful opportunities for learning and living together. You are being helped by your parents, your teachers, and many other concerned people. Reach out and make the most of them.

Best wishes for an even more wonderful year ahead.

Warren L. Bartlett

Inez K. Woodberry

PACKARD HOUSE

Mr. Avery
Housemaster

Miss Rouillard
Assistant Housemaster

Do you remember that only one year ago you were all wondering what the future held in store for you at Brookline High School? It seems such a short time ago now and so much has happened since. Some of you have gained so much and given so much; some have gained little and given little, and the vast bulk of the class lies somewhere in between these two extremes. Yet, we have just begun, and the future is so full of promise for all of you that no one dare predict failure or success for any one or all.

Your Housemaster and Assistant Housemaster have experienced joys and sorrows during this short year as we watched over your triumphs and failures. We are both looking forward to our additional three years together. It is our sincere wish that we will be able to see this class through the best four years that any class spent in Brookline High School. Always remember that you are as good as you strive to be and that your excellence is determined by the consistency of your effort.

Lyman C. Avery

What do you mean, you're not going to buy BHS note paper?!

It's the glue on your little finger that does the trick.

No wonder you can't do this problem: that's your French book.

What, after all, is Scholarship? Scholarship is the fulfillment of intellectual potentialities, the understanding of philosophies which have governed the world since time began, the very basis of progress. At Brookline High School the full meaning of Scholarship is pursued by each student, for he realizes both the material and the spiritual rewards of learning. Awards for educational achievement not only honor the student as one who has satisfied his intellectual curiosity through learning, but also honor the name of his school. The student of Brookline High School understands, moreover, the greater reward of learning; it is through Scholarship that he will be able to lead, assist, or in other ways, benefit his fellowman.

Dr. Ernest R. Caverly

By providing a firm base from which the administration of Brookline High School is set to motion, the School Committee has achieved and maintained its standard for high academic and high personal achievement at Brookline High School. Every student is given the opportunity to gain knowledge and experience in any field he chooses. To the School Committee, we of Brookline High School offer our sincere appreciation for a school system in which we can well take pride.

HEADMASTER

"New and greater ideas are necessary if the future of civilization is to progress or even endure."

THE HIGH SCHOOL
115 GREENOUGH STREET
BROOKLINE 46, MASSACHUSETTS

Murivian Message from the Headmaster

To Roberts House, Class of 1962:

As you are about to be graduated you may well ask yourselves the question, "What have I gained from my four years at Brookline High School?" Most of you can list an imposing array of answers, a few of which will stand out as being far more significant than the lesser items.

For my part, I hope that during the past four years Brookline High School has helped you to develop your best possible self in keeping with your own special talents. I believe that no matter how many facts you may have memorized your education is incomplete unless you have learned the importance of ideas and the importance of people.

Ideas have changed the world and will continue to do so. New and greater ideas are necessary if the future of civilization is to progress or even endure.

Unless you truly believe that people are important too, all kinds of people, you will find it difficult to accept the corollaries that each one must, indeed, be his brother's keeper, that every person is entitled to self-fulfillment and self-respect. Life will have greater meaning for you if you accept the principle that people are important. A democratic nation must be aware of the precious uniqueness of every individual, otherwise it cannot become truly democratic.

Best wishes for your future!

HOMEMAKING DEPARTMENT

A most important role of woman is that of being a homemaker: knowing how to care for her family's needs, both lovingly and skillfully. The Homemaking Department prepares its students to take their places with competence in the cornerstone of society, the home.

Row 1: Miss Cronan (Head of Dept.), Miss Egan. Row 2: Mrs. Sennott, Mrs. Atwood, Miss South.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Science is now an integral part of our existence and may well determine our lives. It is most important to our futures, then, that the Science Department be both competent and up-to-date. Innovations, such as Chemical Bond Approach, have been added to the other excellent courses offered by the Science Department. In his first year as its head, Mr. Parfitt has not only maintained but improved upon the already high standards of Brookline High School's Science Department.

Row 1: Miss Abel, Miss Nardone, Mrs. Konigsberg, Mr. Parfitt (Head of Dept.), Miss Dockett, Miss Bruce, Mrs. Plzak. Row 2: Miss Campbell, Mr. Fuller, Miss Driscoll, Mr. Warren, Mr. Fox, Mr. Gleekman, Mr. Lowe, Mrs. Rosser.

Row 1: Mrs. Hartley, Miss McCabe, Miss Weeden, Mrs. Manley. Row 2: Mr. Coe, Mr. F. Smith, Mr. R. Bruce, Mr. Meyers, Mr. W. Smith, Mr. Dobras. Not Present: Mr. Merrill (Head of Dept.), Mr. Wright.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

"To deny the past is to lose the future" could well be the motto of Brookline High School's Social Studies Department. At this juncture in our civilization, it is vitally necessary that the leaders of tomorrow have the lessons of yesterday on which to build the future. Through the discovery not only of facts, but also of the underlying concepts and philosophies of history, students are able to gain insight into the workings of mankind. To the Social Studies Department of Brookline High School, we owe our knowledge of civilizations, past and present.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Mr. Eddy, in his first year as head of the Physical Education Department, has stressed physical fitness. Physical fitness is not physical exhaustion at the end of a gym period, but relaxation and enjoyment through sports and dancing. This combination of activity and enjoyment adds up to a physically and mentally fit person.

Miss Kelly, Miss Chapman, Mr. Eddy (Director), Miss Taylor. Row 2: Mr. Ball, Mr. Case, Mr. Carroll, Mr. Bemis. Not Present: Mr. McInerney, Miss Steele, Mr. Weygant.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Music is both the expression and the relief of all who come in contact with it, for one may either participate actively or simply relax in its sweet emissions. The Music Department makes this contact available to talented and interested students through its chamber music concerts and the annual Quadrangle Concert. Instilled in the hearts of even those not taking a regular course is a feeling of familiarity with an art which transmits to each hearer a different message.

Row 1: Mr. Corley (Head of Dept.). Row 2: Mr. Joslin, Mr. Philpott, Mr. Seymour.

MATH DEPARTMENT

Mathematics constitutes not only a major part of everyday life, but, coupled with science, it has become most essential to our survival as free Americans. The necessity for progress in mathematics has been both realized and fulfilled by the Mathematics Department of Brookline High School. New and different approaches to mathematics permit each student to develop a logical and coherent thinking process in preparation for the complex world before him.

Row 1: Miss Blom, Mrs. Springer, Miss Feinberg, Mrs. Shine, Mr. Ward (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Addelson, Mrs. Hudson. Row 2: Mr. E. Bruce, Mr. Lyons, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Wiggin, Mr. Downes, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Jean.

Row 1: Mrs. Cummin, Miss Greenshields, Mr. Ehnes (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Seltzer, Miss M. Murdock. Row 2: Mr. Dunbar, Mr. Dwinell, Miss Kling, Mr. Golini, Miss Boland.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Brookline High School's Business Department prepares the student for both business and college. Not only can it be referred to as the "employment office of B.H.S.," placing vocational students with banks, doctors, and lawyers; but also it is the source of information for those looking forward to college with its new and valuable system of taking notes, notehand. Through its "employment office" the Business Department of Brookline High School serves the community as an outlet for talented business students.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

The Industrial Arts Department, headed by Mr. Edmunds, has made a greater contribution to Brookline High School than most of us realize. The majority of students come in contact with the Industrial Arts Department through Driver Education; the other courses offered to the student are Metal, Electrical, and Wood Workshop. Most of the school's announcements and booklets are printed by Industrial Arts students. Rewards of the Industrial Arts Department lie in tangible products which reveal the desire and effort of the students to create.

Row 1: Mr. McCabe, Mr. Edmunds (Head of Dept.), Mr. Bowler. Row 2: Mr. Foster, Mr. Beauchemin, Mr. Ford. Not Present: Mr. Couture, Mr. Driscoll, Mr. Lepera.

NURSES

Although there are no injured soldiers at Brookline High School, our personal Florence Nightingales comfort and cure ailments besetting students. With due gratitude to Miss Maloney and Miss Schomer for their devoted care, we are able to boast of ruddy complexions and sound bodies.

Miss Maloney, Miss Schomer.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English Department of Brookline High School concentrates on the communication of ideas which we communicate to others and ideas which literature communicates to us. Speaking and writing effectively enables us to express our ideas more readily; studying literature enables us to find a broader, more varied expression of the basic concepts and ideals upon which our civilization is built.

Row 1: Mr. Flemings, Mrs. Hines, Mr. Woodman (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Ogden, Mr. Wilkinson, Miss Ackerman. Row 2: Mrs. Schattinger, Miss Tiews, Miss Deal, Mrs. Silver, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Hamer, Mrs. Vollero, Mrs. Dalton, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Donnelly. Row 3: Mr. Imray, Mr. Weeks, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Schluntz, Dr. Walsh, Dr. Allison. Not Present: Miss Busse, Mrs. Grey, Mrs. Greenberg, Mrs. Heasley, Mrs. Garelick.

ART DEPARTMENT

"All human beings should find some form of art which will serve to enrich their lives and bring enjoyment and satisfaction to them through personal accomplishment." Such is the aim of the Art Department of Brookline High School. To students of art, are offered courses providing the opportunity to give expression to creative ideas and thoughts; to those simply interested in art for art's sake is offered the chance to discover the work of the great artists who have contributed to our cultural heritage. America, as the world's greatest "melting pot," provides innumerable avenues of thought and expression over which those appreciative of the arts may pass enriched.

Row 1: Miss Calden, Miss Peckham, Mrs. Woodberry. Row 2: Mr. Coletta, Mr. Lamb.

MAINTENANCE STAFF

To those of the Maintenance Staff, the silent guardians of Brookline High School, each member of B.H.S. owes a debt of gratitude. The Maintenance Staff sees to it that our school is at all times neat, clean, and presentable. We need never fear that a flaw in the school's appearance will be found either by expected or by unexpected visitors. The Maintenance Staff of Brookline High School is symbolic of diligence in its constant efforts toward making Brookline High School a school to be proud of.

Row 1: Mr. Murphy, Mrs. McDonough, Mrs. Mulvey, Mrs. Larson, Mr. Hickman (Head Custodian). Row 2: Mr. Schroeder, Mr. Conlon, Mr. Lusso, Mr. Morrin, Mr. Burke, Mr. McGrath. Not Present: Mrs. Cronin.

LIBRARY STAFF

Man shares his thoughts and feelings by means of the written word. In times past the chance to read a single book was grasped at greedily. The Library Staff of Brookline High School offers students not only a most generous selection of books, but also the comfort of a quiet and peaceful library in which to read or study.

Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Cribben (Head Librarian), Mrs. Uchell.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

As the people of the world become closer, great stress is being placed on their being able to communicate with one and other. The Foreign Language Department of Brookline High School treats this new necessity for communication with foreign peoples expertly, providing excellent courses in a variety of foreign languages. Each course is keyed to the student's ability, in order that he may gain with greater ease the facility of one or more languages. The Foreign Language Department of Brookline High School is helping students toward their future roles as Americans, leaders of the world.

Row 1: Miss Hoyt, Mrs. Rodriguez, Mr. Mather (Head of Dept.), Miss Tondreau, Miss McKnight. Row 2: Miss Douglass, Mrs. Hoyt, Miss Dragonas, Mrs. Stelk, Mrs. Austin, Miss McKenna, Miss Manter, Miss Bridey. Row 3: Miss Segal, Mr. Goodrich, Mr. Belocas, Mr. Friedland, Mrs. Cohen.

ADMINISTRATION

The army of Administration in Brookline High School is a strange one, for there are no privates—only colonels. Because of the heavy responsibility of the guardianship of our massive organization, each guard must be a leader—ready, willing and able to be aware of every event in every corner of Brookline High School. Were it not for our capable Administration, notices would not be typed and handed out, bells would not be rung, schedules would not function, passes would not be issued. In short, pandemonium would break loose. However, in the ranks of Administration, any chance of pandemonium is quelled; order and efficiency prevail.

Row 1: Miss O'Leary, Miss Niland, Mrs. McDonnell. Row 2: Miss Lynch, Mrs. Maroney, Miss Pasztor, Mrs. Reardon, Mrs. Ravreby, Miss Aluf.

LUNCHROOM STAFF

If you did not feel like making your lunch last night, don't despair! Brookline High School's fine Lunchroom Staff prepares daily a variety of luncheons for both students and faculty. For hungry students there are also special after-school treats. Brookline High School is certainly dependent upon and indebted to the Lunchroom Staff for its services.

Row 1: Mrs. Macaulay, Miss Carter, Mrs. Greeme, Mrs. Sennott (Dietitian), Miss Cronan, Mrs. Sheridan, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Mikulskis, Mrs. Reposa. Row 2: Mrs. Kelleher, Mrs. Langdon, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Hurley, Mrs. Curie, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. MacIsac, Mrs. McKnight, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Dalrymple, Mrs. Karr, Mrs. Ochiltree, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Kenefick.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

For every student at Brookline High School who cares about his present and future, there is a trained guidance counselor, anxious and able to help him. With the extensive facilities of the Guidance Department, the student can consult reference materials, study catalogues, use all available tests as guides, and plan for a career or college. With thanks to Mr. Grinnell and the Guidance Department, we have every possible aid available for every possible aim.

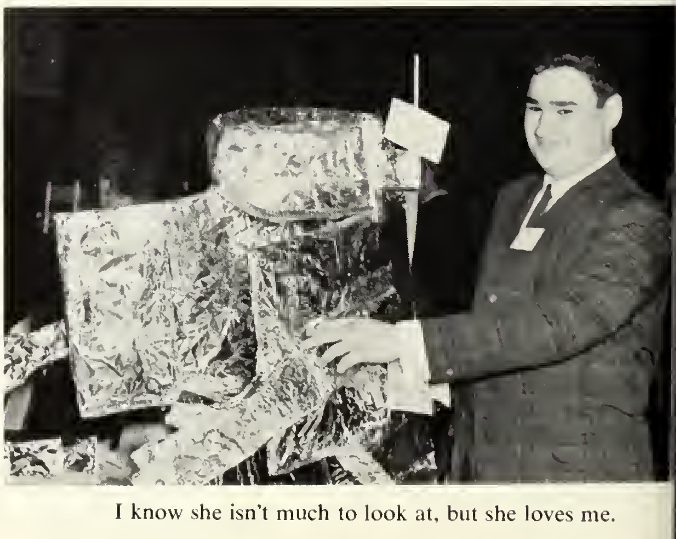
It's very complicated, but at least the finished product is 90% proof.

We don't dare touch the thing—it keeps humming "God Bless America."

I don't know what it means, though; my daddy made it for me.

Been here twenty minutes ago, we could've had omelets.



I know she isn't much to look at, but she loves me.

Daily, man makes tremendous strides in science, but as he conquers one frontier, he creates another; as he solves one mystery of science, he unfolds another. Very soon it will be up to us, the youth of today, to blaze these newly established frontiers, to solve these new mysteries confronting men. Each year more and more schools, clubs, and industries realize the importance of aiding in the advancement of scientifically inclined students. Brookline High School's Annual Science Fair provides the encouragement and recognition instrumental to the development of tomorrow's scientists. To the winners are awarded cash prizes, scholarships, and honorary plaques; of the participants two are chosen to represent BHS at the State Science Fair. Of greater import, however, is the chance given to each student to express and share his interest in science with other students throughout the nation.

Group activity has come to the fore, of late, as never in the past. It is essential, then, to the advancement of man, that he learn to act with others in single union toward a common goal. Whether men work together or play together is irrelevant—that they do it together is of greatest moment. So-called racial and religious inequalities, based, of course, on foolish prejudice, and feelings of superiority, founded on egotistical misconceptions, provide only stumbling blocks on the road leading to a community of man. Black or white, Protestant, Jew, or Catholic, rich or poor, every man is a human being. We must learn to love our fellowman, for love is the most powerful force in all the world. In unity there is strength; in love there is unity.

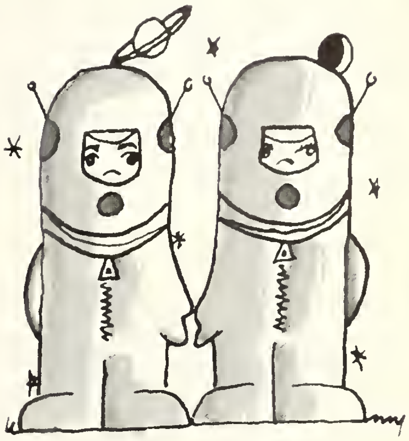
AERO CLUB

"Air travel" has become an irrevocable part of our everyday vocabulary. Each day we see great silver birds of metal soaring above us, carrying passengers and goods; so swift and impressive are these winged conveyances, that we rarely stop to think of their elementary beginnings, of their slow construction, of their eventual completion. Into these facets of aviation's development probe the members of the Aero Club. They don't just fly model airplanes; they plan and build them. While planning and constructing, they share ideas; from sharing come new ideas, then new plans, new construction. As constantly as conceptions of aviation are changing, so are those of the members of the Aero Club—aviators, one day, themselves.



John Glenn calling? I thought he came down last February.

The flick of a knob, the turn of a dial. So easy has it become to choose our favorite radio station that we take for granted what goes on inside the radio. Yet here is where the members of the Amateur Radio Club go mad! Under the direction of licensed "hams," they probe deeply, investigating the inner workings of a radio. To a serious purpose is directed this labor, for the young radio enthusiasts assist Conelrad in the indispensable efforts of Civil Defense. Once the greatest means of communication and entertainment, still one of the foremost, radio provides for members of the Amateur Radio Club a field over which to run rampant.

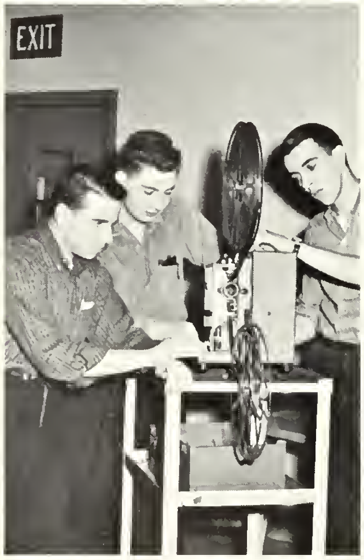
AUDIO-VISUAL



We've got to stop the FHA from winding hair ribbon on this thing.

We enjoy, daily, radio, television, and movies; yet we rarely stop to think of the group of people working behind the scenes to make these luxuries available to us. At BHS this group goes by the alias of the Audio-Visual Staff. Without the Staff's patience and skill in learning to manipulate the instruments which produce the final effects, students and faculty members would have neither the informative films nor the enjoyable recording sessions looked forward to so much by so many. To this able group, which is under the direction of Mr. Lowe, we owe our deepest appreciation.

TREASURY

The Central Treasury is the center for the monies of the BHS houses and organizations. All the funds of the school are deposited in the Central Treasury and managed by its members. Not only do these responsible people keep the finances of the school in order, but also they gain business acumen by learning to budget wisely. They instruct each club treasurer in his position and keep each club informed of its financial situation. Inflation? Why, it could never happen at Brookline High!

Washington calling—will you tell us exactly how you balanced the BHS budget?

CLUB

A basic element of good science is good scientists. Concentrating on one branch of science, the Chemistry Club helps to instill the attitudes and procedures of science interested above and beyond the classroom level. As future chemists, members perform experiments, have discussions, and enjoy lectures calculated to contribute to receptive minds the value and depth of chemistry. A chemical formula becomes the basis for further research, as does a membership in the Chemistry Club lead to an appreciation and knowledge of the chemical components that constitute our universe.

So where's the genie already?

CHESS

Don't laugh—he refuses to knock off your queen because it's not gentlemanly.

For avid television fans, Checkmate has no other meaning than the name of a favorite detective series. For intellectuals, checkmate represents the high point of a chess game. Here at BHS, those who so desire may spend many enjoyable and tension-filled hours battling across the chess board. Competition is rough, but the BHS Chess Club has been the recipient of the Chess League Championship several times in past years. So, the next time your television set breaks down (whether in the middle of Checkmate or not!)—grab a partner and pull out the chess board.

COURT OF

Say, we haven't had a good lunchroom robbery in years.

In our miniature world everything is adapted from the adult world and placed on a smaller scale. Just as the world has found a judicial force vital to the orderly and proper concurrence of human behavior to set social patterns, so has the miniature world of BHS established the Court of Justice as its judiciary force. In this small court students may participate as officers of the law, to scale, of course, or not quite so voluntarily as defendants accused of breaking rules of Brookline High School. The greatest value of a student court lies in the experience imparted to its participants; they gain through their relationship a preparedness for the adult world in which laws and regulations form the nucleus of the community of human beings.

DRAMATICS

. . . and when you get through doing that, you can mow the lawn, and then . . .

Lights, places, action! These are the passwords of the Dramatics Society. The Society provides the opportunities for willing students to try their hands not only at acting, but also at directing, producing, and working backstage. Of course, what worthwhile play would be worthwhile without a cast party? The BHS Dramatics Society provides this, too, along with an annual banquet and many fun-filled informal meetings. Any student not in the Society may enjoy its productions at a very slight admission fee. We owe many thanks to Mr. Flemings and the BHS Dramatics Society.

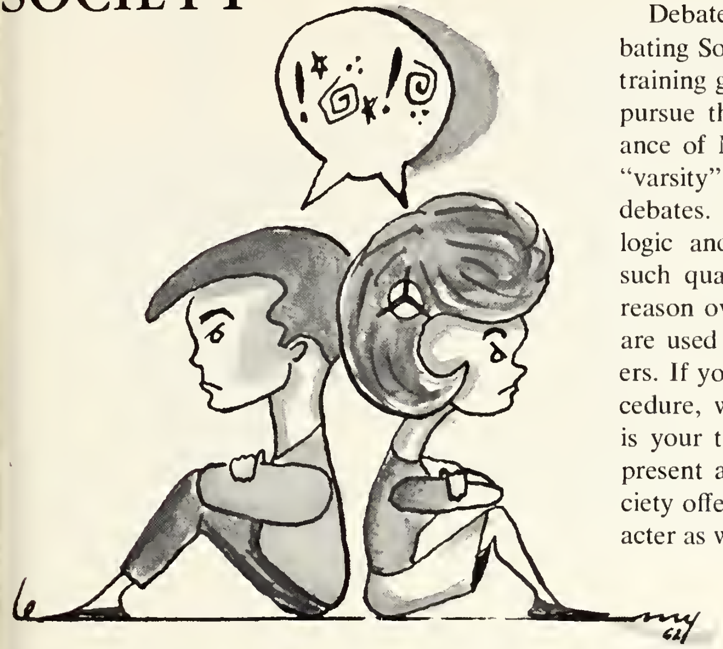
SOCIETY



Debaters are made, not born; the Debating Society of BHS is the meeting and training grounds for students who wish to pursue the forensic art. Under the guidance of Mrs. Manley, both amateur and "varsity" teams participate in intramural debates. Arguments are characterized by logic and completeness of presentation; such qualities make victory a success of reason over tactics of propaganda, which are used by disputers, rather than debaters. If you can sustain parliamentary procedure, wait to win an argument until it is your turn to present a case, and then present a winning one, the Debating Society offers you a chance to grow in character as well as in skill.

Thus, I earnestly submit a motion for the institution of co-ed gym into the high school curriculum.

CLUB

Group activity has always provided the greatest source for enjoyment to everyone, young and old, and folk singing is no exception. This favorite form of fun, recently more popularized among Easterners, hasn't failed to influence BHS. The Folk Singing Club of BHS, formed this year, invites students interested in folk music to gather and have fun. With guitars and sturdy voices in tow, members entertain kindergarten children and old folks, as well as themselves. When not performing, they relax, exchanging songs, strumming guitars, and lending a popular and pleasant sound to the halls of BHS.

Sing it my way, gang, or don't sing it at all.

FRENCH

Here's one bug that won't live to see the spring.

Parlez-vous français? If so, and if you are anxious to learn the culture and history of France, by all means join the French Club. Le Circle Français offers everything from skits and songs (in French, of course) to interesting discussion of the language, of the people, and of the country of France. The Club operates under the leadership of Miss Tondreau in cooperation with the French Department. The enthusiastic members know La Marseillaise as well as The Star Spangled Banner and are forever trying to get you to learn it, too. What would a school be without a French Club? We do not have to worry about that, because the BHS French Club is among the best.

On second thought, I'd rather have diptheria.

As long as there is ailing, nurses will always be indispensable. Nurses are a necessary part of the force working against sickness in the world. Members of the Future Nurses of America learn of the nurse's role as a helper of the ill through her knowledge of medicine and her mission as a carrier of good cheer and optimism. Members become acquainted with nursing as a career and with different types of nursing which fulfill the many needs of the individual and the community.

Too many high-school girls have just recently come face to face with the soul-searching question: how in heaven's name do you make stuffed turkey? Or the equally horrifying: when I am faced with the responsibility of running a home, where in the world will I start? What better time to learn the how's and wherefore's of homemaking than during high school? Through the bi-monthly meetings of the Future Homemakers of America, Brookline High's future homemakers learn both the meaning and the how-to's of an efficient home. Moreover, discussions and participation in state meetings lead, for some lucky "homemakers," to the national convention.

I told you with a little effort we could out-bake the Chefs' Club.

Is this not the German Club? Ja, this is the German Club.

If ach du lieber is the only German you know, you are out of luck; but if you speak German or are learning to, the German Club is the club for you. Colorful slides and informative discussions of now-much-in-the-news Germany are all yours in the German Club. Education is one of the most valuable assets of an individual, upon which the progress of his country and its strength as a nation may very well hinge. Upon the shoulders of America's teachers lies the tremendous task of educating our country's young people. Hence, the need for teachers is boundless; no matter how many we have, we will always need more. A sincere and purposeful group, the Future Teachers of America, are preparing now for their career as teachers tomorrow. Already practicing teaching in kindergartens, enjoying lectures and trips, these young people are insuring America's progress as a nation of educated people.

LEAGUE

Working in harmonious cooperation toward the betterment of those less happy than they, members of the Girls' League fulfill their greatest purpose. With their annual scrapbook contest, the girls make helping others fun; yet the scrapbooks are just one means among many used by the girls to make someone less fortunate happy. Planning and presenting the Girls' League teas, supper, and parties, they receive the pleasure of working together, enjoying the true meaning of companionship. Reflected throughout their endeavors, whether serious or funfilled, is a true sense of accomplishment, for through the strength of their union does the significance of fellowship emerge.

Oh no, ma'am, we haven't been eating in the League Room.

It's your turn to tell those gullible eighth graders that BHS is great.

Dices latinum is far more popular than parlez-vous français or sprechen sie deutch—at least during Latin Club meetings. Guest speakers, Nova Latina, the Latin Club newspaper, and conventions enable the members to relive part of the former glory and power of Rome. This review of Roman political concepts and philosophical thought, which have influenced inestimably Western life, indicates that no language which has contributed so much to science, government, and the language and literature of the West can ever, in truth, die.

Nothing like reading the dictionary, we always say.

Ever been faced with drawing a comparison between the Mongolian Peoples Republic and the Bronx in one study period? Bewilderment reigns supreme; confronted with an innumerable number of books, where do you start your search? It is now the library aide, that life-saving student, can come to your rescue. Having given up his study hall, he directs students about the library, helping librarians to keep it neat and orderly. Whether it's a comparison between Mongolia and the Bronx, a term paper, or a simple report, students of BHS can depend upon their library aides.

RED CROSS

Although Brookline High does not offer a course in psychology, students participating in the Junior Red Cross program demonstrate a fundamental of human behavior: people can and do transcend personal gains to help those in need. Each year homeroom representatives appeal for funds to bring a little comfort in the form of a comb or toy, washcloth or ruler, to the life of an underprivileged child. We have never met the recipients of the gift boxes; yet each of us feels satisfied, knowing that he has contributed to world peace through an effort to help his fellowman.

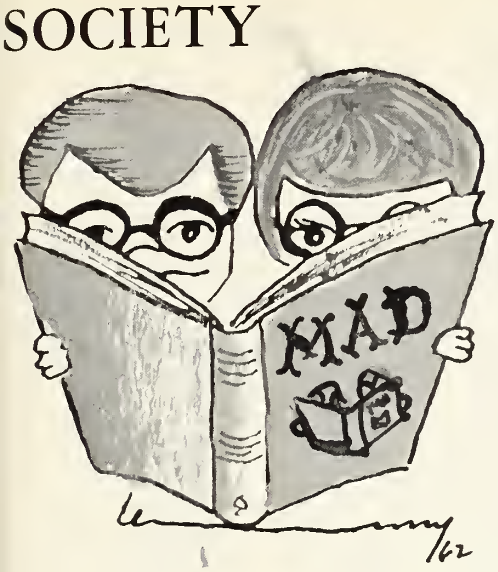
MATH

. . . thus proving that my finger is the center of the earth.

One, two, buckle my shoe; two, three, geometry; four, five, six, calculus. Thus the members of Brookline High School's Math Society progress from the realms of numbers to the degree of infinite knowledge. Although this is an exaggeration, members do gain knowledge of not only math, but also math plus. Each gains a personal, but practical comprehension of mathematical existence. The "queen of the sciences" grants audience to her subjects and makes them princes.

SOCIETY



Literature is to be not only read but also written; the Literary Society, divided into "readers" and "writers," employs as the basis of its organization this simple philosophy. In true American spirit the club members assemble for discussion and argument on particular works of literature, whether written by the world's noted authors or the Literary Society's less renowned but equally determined authors. Members are drawn into such lively debates that nothing on either side of "East Literature-ania" could return them to that state of literary accord typical of cultural and enjoyable club, the Literary Society.

Zing went the strings of my heart, as well as those of the entire violin section! But have no fear, for the BHS Orchestra, preparedly able and ably prepared, is always ready for any occasion, even though suffering from a minimum of preparation or a maximum of absences. Playing at assemblies, concerts, and Class Day, the BHS Orchestra has become an integral part of our school spirit and fun. PHYSIC

Exploration into the unknown realms of physics and a deeper delving into the already discovered realms of the science —such are the experiences enjoyed by members of the Physics Club. Brookline High School's scientific creme de la crême gain through experimentation a comprehension of the matters of physics. Warm debates and discussions ensue, from which result individual projects. Further arguments lead young scientists more deeply into the matters of physics. With such interested and devoted members, Physics Club is noted as one of the most worthwhile at Brookline High School.

If you want interesting political polls, up-to-date school news, excellent feature stories, and clear, concise, coverage of school sports—look no farther! BHS supplies you with all this for a mere twenty cents or an activities ticket. What are we speaking of? Why, the Sagamore, of course. The Sagamore Editorial Staff is composed of enthusiastic and hard-working students who prepare and present the Sag, a difficult job indeed! Why do they do it? Aside from enjoying their work, staff members gain a working knowledge of journalism through practical experience and development of their skills. These young newspaper men and women deserve a great deal of thanks for providing BHS with one of the finest school newspapers in the country.

BUSINESS STAFF

Self-government is the foundation upon which has been built both a leading nation and a fine school. Although limited in its power, our School Council works each year to provide the legislation it deems necessary to make our school a better one. This year's School Council is no exception. Aside from its regular duties, arranging the club meeting schedule, constitutions and elections, and sponsoring the Winter Carnival, it has been the first BHS School Council to introduce a Student Ticket. Our BHS Student Council is "of the students, by the students, and for the students" all the way.

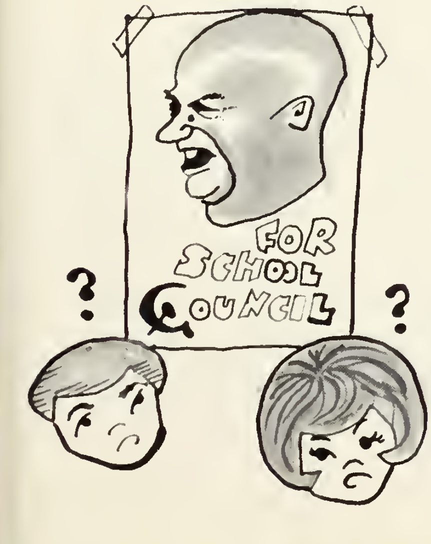
COUNCIL



The excellence of our school paper eliminates the need for a rousing sales campaign; however, the Sagamore Business Staff serves a function equally as vital and important. This group of students, makes certain that every homeroom in BHS is provided with its share of Sags, that profits are well accounted for, and that no business angle of running a school newspaper is neglected, but is treated with efficiency and diligence.

Just think, Buzz—we have another School Council meeting this afternoon.

STUDENT EXCHANGE CLUB

Oh, we're just planning a little trip . . .

A great task indeed is the creation of international understanding; yet by means of the Student Exchange Club, Brookline High School strives toward just this. Each year foreign students are warmly received for a stay of one year, their stay being possible through the aid and assistance of the American Field Service, while Brookline, in turn, sends one or more students abroad. This past fall, just returned from France and eager to tell of his experiences abroad was Jon Coppleman, while newly arrived from Greece and Italy were respectively Marianna Lazaris and Carlo Mortara. Carlo and Marianna became full-fledged Brookline High students. The Student Exchange Club merits all the thanks and appreciation we can give for its efforts in promoting an understanding among nations.

STUDENT MANUAL

As a guide to clubs, student government, sports, and colleges, as well as to the layout of the school itself, the Student Manual has become a permanent, if not indispensable, part of Brookline High School literature. Directed mainly toward freshman and the newly arrived at BHS, the Manual is often referred to by upperclassmen as a review of the high school, its divisions, rules, and changes. The Student Manual, published annually by BHS students, provides within its compact composition an introduction to the world of BHS.

Yes, it is lovely; I wrote it.

OFFICERS

Business Manager: Mary Anne Cline

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

What do you mean I look German?

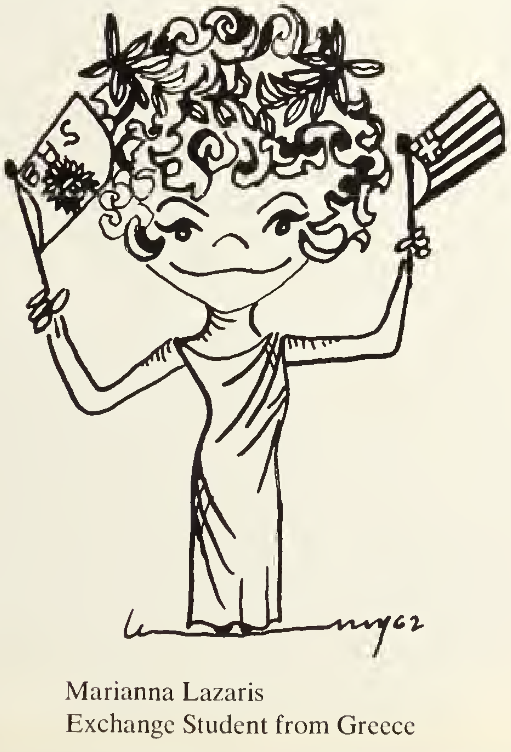
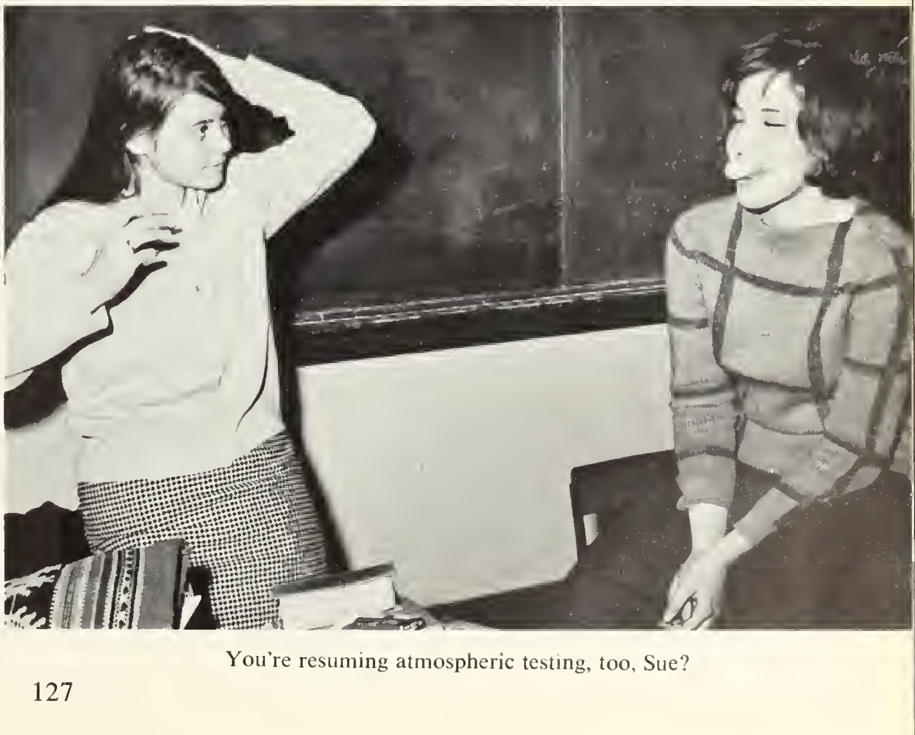
Carlo Mortara
Exchange Student from Italy

Look—I told you already—I can't get Sophia Loren to speak at the next Girls' League meeting.

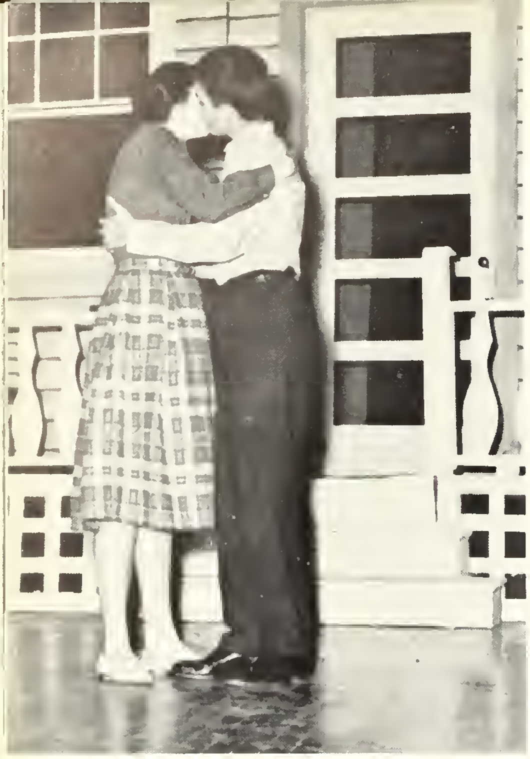
Marianna and friends.



Marianna Lazaris
Exchange Student from Greece



You're resuming atmospheric testing, too, Sue?



It's too bad this wasn't in the script.

ALL MY SONS

You think I'm decadent, sonny—you should see the director!

THE LADY'S NOT FOR BURNING

I can't get up; my knees are caught in a crack.

That'll teach you to go around starting milk fights.

If you don't get off the stage sir, I'm afraid we'll have to call the police.

Hey, it's a U-2!

GIRLS' LEAGUE DANCE

Wait a minute, honey; I'll give you my heart.

No, no—hearts are not the same as mistletoe!

Grrr . . . I saw him first.

I hate crowds!

KICK-OFF DANCE

Darn these A.A. meetings.

Why didn't you tell me you had Bubble Gum stuck to your fingers, Phyllis?

Half-time's almost over. We'd better get back into the stands.

WINTER CARNIVAL WEEKEND

Hey, Janet, maybe they'll crown me Winter Queen.

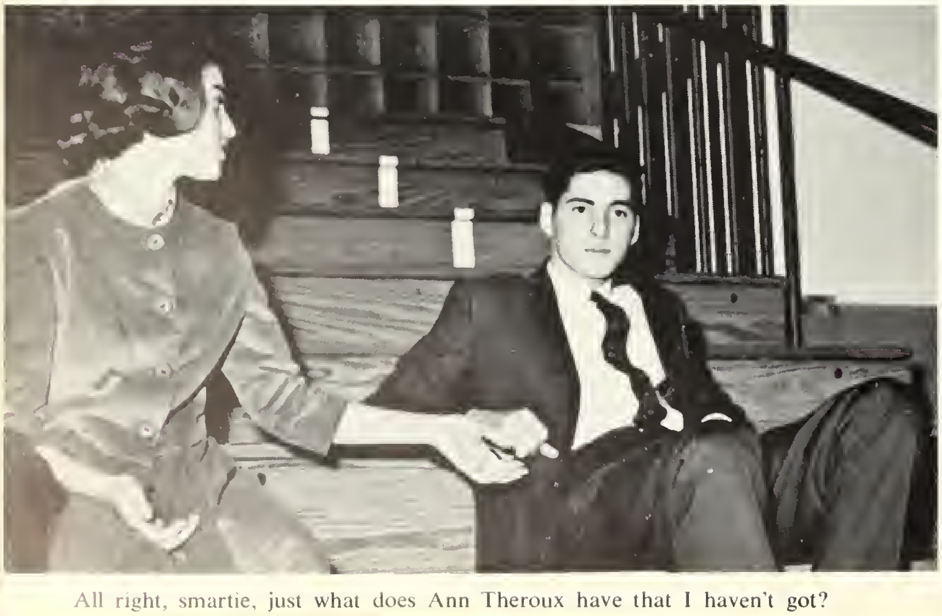
Oh, goody, just the right size for my Wheaties!

You're not gonna let a little worm stop you!

Hold it, hon! There's an icicle crawling on your necktie.



All right, smartie, just what does Ann Theroux have that I haven't got?

JUNIOR PROM 1961

It doesn't look very deep, but we've lost two corsages and a housemaster already.

Look, we both can't lead.

Now, if Mr. Bemis were here, we'd really see some action.

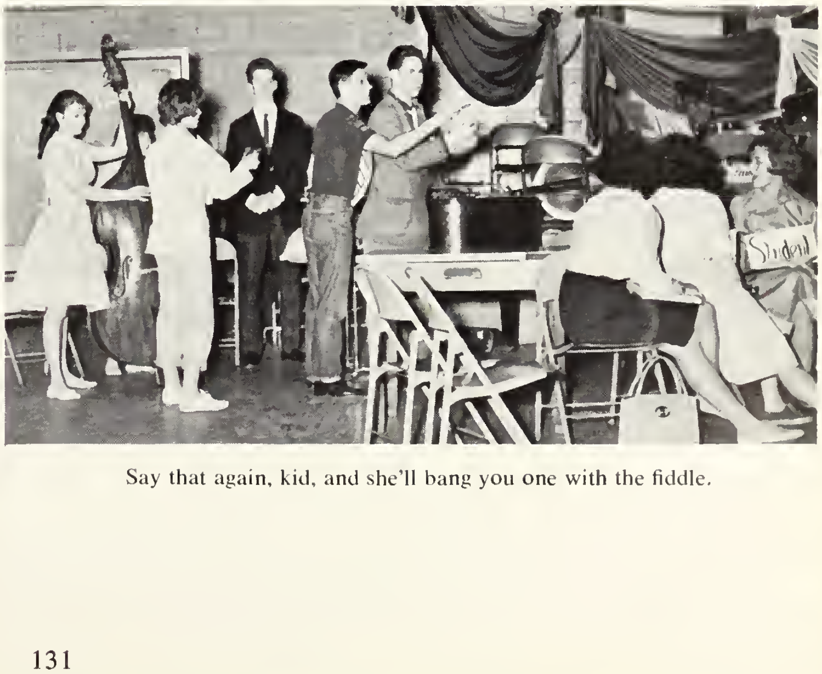
All I know is "Lady of Spain," but I know it real well.



Say that again, kid, and she'll bang you one with the fiddle.

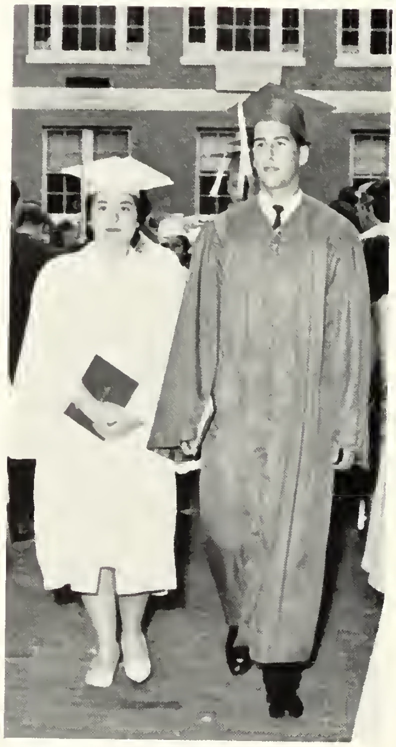
COMMENCEMENT

1961

Sorry, dear, your name isn't on the list.

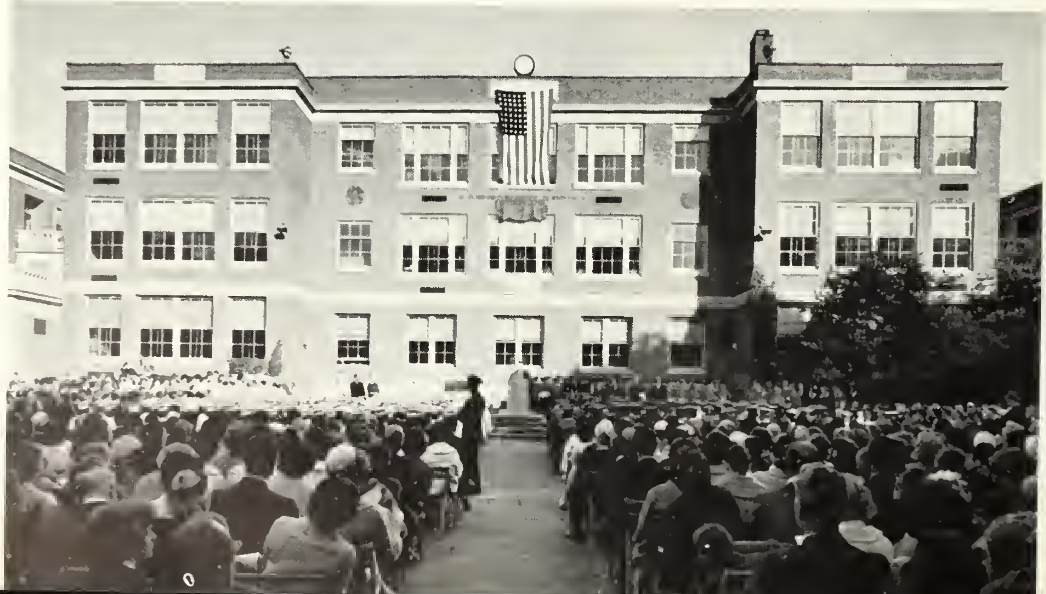
When do the majorettes come on?

You spelled my name wrong; take it back.



One more minute, kid, and we 're out forever.

Don't feel bad, sir; not everyone can be a semifinalist.



When the young child runs home among piercing calls of "Poor sport! Poor sport! Poor sport!" to the refuge of mother and home, crying that the only reason he cheated was that he "didn't wanna lose," he is learning the meaning of Sportsmanship. In time he participates in organized neighborhood games; faced with a defeat, he realizes that, as a sign of good Sportsmanship, a pat on the back and congratulations are in order for the winner of a game well played. Thus is ingrained in his character the essence of fair play, of cooperating with others whether comrade or opponent. At last a student at Brookline High School—his great testing ground—he is faced not with neighborhood and grammar school games but with inter-urban and inter-state competition. A true testing ground for the young adult is BHS, for if he passes here, if he learns to accept victory modestly and defeat graciously, he will pass in the adult world. Whether he wins or loses, he will always be victor.

Robert Hillson
Co-Captain

Eric Heitman

Please—let us have the first down and I'll never ask for anything again as long as I live!

What I really wanted to play was field hockey, but I didn't look so hot in bloomers, so here I am.

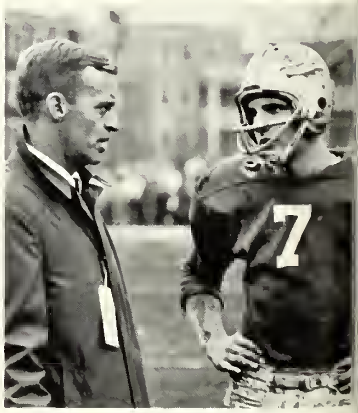
Peter Maggi

Now join hands and circle left!

James Prevoir

Kevin Conry

Richard Malley

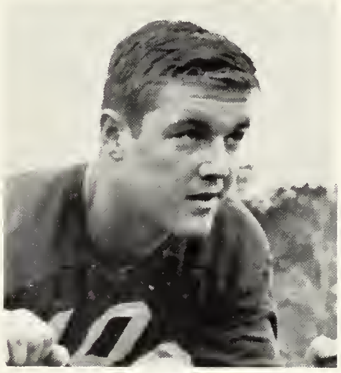


Say, what time is this thing over, anyway? I wanna go home.

Thomas Ludlow
Co-Captain

. . . and that thing over there is a goal post . . .

Lemme go, you guys, or I'll clobber you with my cast!



Charles Burns

Aw, what's the use? You can't bribe a football.

EPILOGUE

Our world is indeed a world in miniature, revolving on an axis of knowledge, social experience, and physical skill. Without learning we would be blind to significant events and opportunities; without self-confidence inspired by Fellowship we would not be capable of adapting to all situations; without active participation in sports we would be conquered easily by a hard world. We have gained from our experience in Brookline High School the tools with which to construct our characters and futures; hence the skill with which to present ourselves to the larger world as mature and capable citizens.
